

The Advanced Semen Report (ASR)™

What is the Advanced Semen Report (ASR)?

The Advanced Semen Report provides unique information about sperm health that will enable couples to make informed decisions about their fertility treatment options.

The ASR 2.0 measures both sperm DNA fragmentation as well as sperm cell membrane damage caused by unstable molecules called reactive oxygen species (ROS). Couples where the male shows high levels of sperm DNA fragmentation have a significantly lower chance of successful pregnancy by natural conception or Intrauterine insemination (IUI). These men may want to consider lifestyle changes and/or treatments to improve their sperm DNA fragmentation scores, or consider moving on to fertility treatments such as IVF or ICSI, where sperm DNA fragmentation scores have not shown a significant impact on success rates.

How do you provide your specimen?

Your Yinstill clinician will fax your testing order to the ReproSource client service department and will provide you with a specimen collection kit for use at home. A ReproSource patient advocate will contact you by phone in order to review the entire process with you and to ensure that all of your questions are answered. Please read the kit instructions carefully so that you can prepare for your conversation with the ReproSource patient advocate. There is also a shipping fee that will be calculated for your unique location. The ReproSource patient advocate can look up your address and provide you with that fee amount during your call.

How much does the ASR 2.0 cost?

The price for the Advanced Semen Report is $205 USD. You can submit your credit card information on the ReproSource test requisition form so that Yinstill can fax a copy of the requisition to ReproSource. Your credit card will be verified immediately, but will not be charged until your specimen arrives for testing.

This fee includes an interpretation fee from Dr Paul Magarelli M.D., a U.S. Board Certified Reproductive Endocrinologist and Infertility specialist who is authorized to order the test, and who will interpret and provide the results to Yinstill for you.

Once you receive your ASR 2.0 report you may require additional information and clarification. Your Yinstill clinician has arranged for a substantially discounted consultation with Dr Magarelli for you if you so desire. Discuss this with your acupuncturist and then call 877-475-2229 and tell the receptionist that you are calling for an ASR consult with Dr. Magarelli. You will have a coupon in your ASR 2.0 report for this consult at the reduced price of $50 USD.